

Colombia

Colombia is a strategic nation in God's plan for seeing South America become a regional mission mobilization powerhouse. The evangelical body of Christ has been through a lot in this violent nation historically. This upheaval has given Colombian believers and churches resilience and strength. In addition, Latino culture has many similarities to Muslim culture, preparing them to be mobilized into Kingdom activity globally in large numbers. The church in Colombia has a great calling to educate, inspire and activate believers toward the multiplication of simple, reproducible churches among all the unreached peoples nearby (12 in their own nation) along with scattering disciples to the distant Muslim peoples of the Middle East and North Africa. Let's stand in the gap for the Church in Colombia to grow in wholehearted discipleship to Jesus that overflows in obedience to the nations.

FOR MISSION MOBILIZATION

Let's pray...

Colombia

ABANDONED DEVOTION IN THE CHURCH:

- Believers and local churches learning to wage spiritual war through intercession and worship, growing in operating in Jesus' delegated authority (Matthew 28:18).
- Believers and local churches growing in discernment of Satan's schemes and tactics (Ephesians 6:11-12) to get believers off track, namely accusation and deception about God, themselves and the world.
- Believers and local churches submitting themselves more to God, resisting the three primary areas of temptation – the lust of the eyes, lust of the flesh and the pride of life (1 John 2:15)

GROWING MISSION MOBILIZATION IN THE CHURCH:

- Believers and local churches overcoming the common fear of facing challenges and difficulties. True faith embraces challenges believing God is greater than the circumstance being faced.
- Every local ministry embracing their core identity as a "house of prayer for all nations," (Isaiah 56:7) raising a vibrant prayer movement for breakthrough salvation among the unreached of the world.
- Every pastor empowered by the Spirit as a mission mobilizer, able and willing to point people in the right direction of tools, information, resources, vision, etc.
